

Workplace Preferences

It's your responsibility to determine if the company will be a good fit for you. You don't want to wait until you receive a job offer to begin asking questions.

Review each consideration listed below and check off how strongly you feel about each one. On a separate sheet of paper, add others you don't see but consider important, whether they're positive or negative.

Review your selections and highlight the ones that are Must have or Do not want. Preferably, use a blank ruled sheet and list your Must have and Do not want in the order of importance they are to you. These will be the ones you will need to consider during the interview process and before accepting an offer.

Preferences	Degree you would prefer consideration
	Must have ←	Mixed	→	Do not want
Air conditioning
Big company or organization
Cafeteria at facility
Campus-like or park-like office setting
Convenient to public transport
Day care close to work
Day care provided at facility
Family business
Flexible hours
High security
Modern furniture
Night shift work
Noisy office
One-way commute under ___ minutes
One-way commute under ___ hour(s)
Open-plan office space
Outside sales
Overtime
Owner-managed business
Paid or free parking
Private office
Quality furniture
Quiet office
Restaurants nearby
Shared office
Shopping mall nearby
Small company or organization
Tall office tower
Ten-hour days, four days a week
Travel in job – Define how much:
Weekend work
Windows
Work out of home office					